OF THE FEDERAL PARLIAMENT HOUSE.
The Ins and Outs of the Political Situation Daily
Rebel—Mr. Tilden to Make a Public
Declaration—Georgia Masters Us—
Confederates, Etc.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.
WASHINGTON, December 10.—It is probable that Mr. C. Howard Williams, late of the Atlanta Dispatch, will secure an appointment in one of the departments of government at an early day. He has good friends pushing him forward.

I learn from gentlemen intimate with Mr. Tilden and who ought to know his views upon the subject, that he has really decided to speak at the Jackson banquet in New York on the 8th of January, and will then give of unequivocal definition of his attitude toward the democracy and the next campaign. From them I gather that Mr. Tilden will say, in effect, that whatever the party shall deem best will receive his approval and whatever candidate it may select to bear the standard of strict democratic principles will receive his support. Some of his friends are so sanguine as to believe that this declaration would so please the country as to ultimately lead to his nomination.

The North Carolina negroes who are here en route to Indians, and too destitute to proceed further or get back home, are the most pitiable objects I have looked upon in years. They are housed in a church and live upon the refuse scraps from the tables of the neighborhood. A meager subscription in the churches on Sunday last has about sufficed to give them a good square day's rations all around. They have gotten scarcely sick of emigration before they struck the big road to the place they started for.

Miss Mildred Lee, daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, and who has just returned from a prolonged tour around the world, is expected in Washington in a couple of weeks. She will be much pested by the southern people here.

Senator Voorhees' resolution in antagonism to that by Senator Bayard creates some difficulty in the minds of the colored and if General Walker nominates republicans or objectionable parties, the same will reject the nominations. Each representative has been called to a meeting of the anti-slavery committee that will be held in the House chamber that evening.

The democrats have arranged to hold a mass meeting in the hall of the colored and if General Walker nominates republicans or objectionable parties, the same will reject the nominations. Each representative has been called to a meeting of the anti-slavery committee that will be held in the House chamber that evening.

Mr. Stephens' health is not good. Last night he was quite sick and had to go to bed.

Mr. Lipscomb, the father of Rev. A. A. Lipscomb, died Sunday night, at the age of 82 years. Dr. Lipscomb was himself sick and could not get to the funeral.

LET'S LIQUOR!

LOUISVILLE'S GREETING TO GRANT.
Gen. Grant Feels Gushy, and Reconciles Himself to Some of Kentucky's Best Bubbas
—The Honorable Harry Extends His Hand and Loses It.

Our insight have been its magnitude. It now seems to be on the wane. A prominent republican from Indiana to-day said if the south is in favor of Grant that was sufficient reason why he would not run for the presidency. Greeks? Many of the stalwarts from the eastern states, where Blaine is thought to be strongest, are for Sherman. In fact, from information gleaned from prominent republicans from the country Secretary Sherman will receive the republican nomination for the next presidency. His political management seems to be in their favor, and with his well known record for appointing only republicans to office, as has been his course since he became secretary of the treasury. It is interesting to note that he did not approve the president's policy in appointing Hon. H. W. Holloman minister to Brazil, and Colonel Elizur Ward marshal of Georgia. The group of men who were dissatisfied, and he is supported by his party associates as their ablest leader and champion. For these and kindred reasons he is the coming man for the republican nomination, and will be chosen by the democratic nominees will have to beat.

There are comparatively few Georgians in any of the departments, though there are many more than are here, and who are not known to be any Georgians here, and who perhaps never saw the state except on the maps. George, here has a pre-dominant appointment, and but one or two others. Mr. McRae, of the McRae-Bell of Atlanta, and Mr. Pierce, of Savannah, have the best places of any men here from the state. Messrs. Wellborn Colquitt, M. H. DeWitt, W. C. Wren, and Mr. Wren, and Mr. Wren, of Macon, and Mr. Wren, and Mr. Wren, of Carterville, also hold appointments. There are a few colored men from Georgia who hold positions in the various departments, and are entitled to a number of appointments to offices, but have not yet secured them. Senator Thomas sticks to the Ohio financial plank of July last, and with which our fifth district people are familiar through the discussions of the Hammond-Amold campaign of last year.

It is understood that Mr. Ransay, who was to day nominated for secretary of war, has agreed to retain in the service of the department, and who has been given place by McCrary upon the recent emanulations of southern senators.

Senator Voorhees' resolution in antagonism to that by Senator Bayard creates some difficulty in the minds of the colored and if General Walker nominates republicans or objectionable parties, the same will reject the nominations. Each representative has been called to a meeting of the anti-slavery committee that will be held in the House chamber that evening.

The democrats have arranged to hold a mass meeting in the hall of the colored and if General Walker nominates republicans or objectionable parties, the same will reject the nominations. Mr. Stephens' health is not good. Last night he was quite sick and had to go to bed.

Mr. Lipscomb, the father of Rev. A. A. Lipscomb, died Sunday night, at the age of 82 years. Dr. Lipscomb was himself sick and could not get to the funeral.

THE SENATE.

Washington, December 10.—The senate adopted a resolution offered by Mr. McRae calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the effect upon the revenue and upon consumers from the reduction of ten per cent. on the 1872 tax.

The vote took in the resolution hereto offered by Mr. Davis (West Virginia), calling on the secretary of the treasury for a statement of the private claims growing out of the reduction of the 1872 tax.

Mr. Davis accepted the amendment by Mr. Edmonds, changing the date to March 4th, 1861. Mr. Morrison offered an amendment to strike out the word "private," it consisted of military organizations, the public, the governor and mayor, with the city and state officers, fire departments and the like, and something makes us wonder if the author of the bill did not mean to include the manufacturers that will be affected before they allow him confirmed.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

Railroad sensations are now the order of the day.

Some of Lew Benedict's eggs were old enough to stand by themselves.

Two policemen are said to be missing. Well, it might have been worse.

One trial of "Wade Hampton" door never fails to establish it permanently.

One trial yesterday morning, that was part of a suit for damages, was brought up with a waggon.

Bread made of "Wade Hampton" flour never fails to take the premium at the fair.

John Kimball house and Markham house, and all those other bread than anybody else, now "Wade Hampton" flour.

J. T. Glenn has purchased Judge Triplett's residence on Peachtree street. The price has not been made public.

Augustine is to have a race horse meeting in January. It is to be well represented upon the track at the meet.

A new crossing, which has been much needed for some time past, is being put down from the union passenger depot to the entrance of the Markham.

John E. McElroy, who has been studying law under Mr. E. T. Thornton, left yesterday for New Orleans, where he is to marry.

A new rock crossing is being put down across Whitehall Street from the entrance of Lynch & T. L. Burton's to the opposite side.

So-called two people agree about the new Canadian railway. But all in proclaiming boundaries, are great specific for stocks and bonds.

Hutchison & Bro., proprietors, Atlanta, Ga.

Several hundred men yesterday, who drew heavily upon them for their pockets, up for the cotton brought to the city.

The Sunday-school table at the Father be fair started a new race last night for a gold watch and chain between Messrs. Steve Johnson and Frank George. It will be an exciting race.

Colonel W. A. Adair's sale of the Gwinnett property on Tuesday and yesterday afternoon was quite a success. The crowd was large and lively, and the bidding spirit was strong.

About a score of letters and notes were sent to the office of the Constitution yesterday, directed to various friends, and some to the Renton-Santana troupe. None of them were delivered, however, by instructions of the manager. The notes, if published in the Constitution, would be very reading material.

We heard a successful capitalist remarks yesterday to a friend: "I think you have any real estate, and when you will be rich in a few years." The Constitution replies, after considering the matter, could not fail to sell any of their property for something more. Capitalists need no second thought.

Maggie Mitchell.

Next Monday night: The Pearl of Savoy, one of the purest of plays, will be given at the opera house by Maggie Mitchell, who plays incomparably better than any one else. She is a member of a troupe of young artists, several of whom are well known in the great cities. Tuesday night "Lorle" is to be played. It is a play from the French and full of good points.
